2. COOKIES AND SIMILAR TECHNOLOGIES

Cookies

A cookie is a small piece of data that your internet browser places on your device so that it can be recognized when it returns in the future. We use cookies and similar technologies to secure our Site, remember your preferences, and personalize content for your future visits.

Some of the most common cookies that we use on our Site are cookies set by Google Analytics (_ga, _gat, _gid,). The purposes of these cookies are for analysis and testing. They are used to register a unique ID used to generate statistical data on how you use the Site. The length of time that a cookie remains on your device depends on whether it is a “persistent” or “session” cookie. Session cookies last until you stop browsing, and persistent cookies last until they expire or are deleted. Most of the cookies our Site uses are persistent and will expire between 30 minutes and two years from the date they are downloaded to your device.

Most browsers automatically accept cookies, but you can usually refuse cookies, or selectively accept certain cookies, by adjusting the preferences in your browser. If you turn off or refuse cookies, there may be some features of our Site that will not be available to you, and some portions of the Site may not display properly or be less personalized. In addition, we may use the following tracking technologies:

Do-Not-Track Signals

Your browser may allow you to set a “Do Not Track” preference. We currently do not respond to “Do Not Track” or similar signals.

3. HOW WE USE YOUR INFORMATION

We only use your personal information where applicable law allows us to as described below:

- When we process your information in relation to, or to facilitate the provision of our Services, we do so in order to provide the services you are requesting.

- When we automatically collect information through your use of the Site, including through cookies to help us understand and analyze trends in connection with usage of the Services.

- We may also process your information to meet our other compliance and regulatory duties, for example, to retain certain records.

We do not disclose your contact information to third parties for their marketing purposes. Where permitted by applicable law, we may also use anonymous, de-identified, or aggregate information that does not reasonably identify you for any purpose.

4. WHO WE MAY SHARE YOUR INFORMATION WITH

In general, we only share your information as follows:

- To Our Service Providers: We may share your information with third parties who provide services to us or to whom we outsource certain services, such as website analytics companies, hosting and cloud computing service providers, and payment processors. If we would like to use your personal information for any purposes other than those described or as otherwise permitted under applicable law, we will obtain your prior consent.

5. HYPERLINKS ON OUR SERVICES

Our Services may contain hyperlinks to websites operated by others whose information practices may be different than ours.
